

Barcelona Superblocks: A livable city through low-traffic zones

Gepubliceerd 21-mei-21 07:00 door Editor dmi

“I think it is impossible to be against Superblocks.” Silvia Casorran (Deputy Chief Architect at the Barcelona City Council) and Patrick Kappert (member of neighbourhood organisation Collective Superblock Poblenou) speak with Geert Kloppenburg about the Superblocks of Barcelona. They discuss how the Superblocks started, why everyone is talking about Superblocks and how living in a Superblock changed their lives.

Do you want to learn more about cycling best practices? Join us during the Celebrating Cycling Cities event on the 1 of June 2021. You can register here.

This episode is a collaboration with the Dutch Cycling Embassy.

Source: Metropolitan Mobility Podcast

Tags : barcelona, dmi, eng, podcast, superblocks